

CONGRESSIONAL

XXXVI CONGRESS—First Session.

WASHINGTON, June 5.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner presented the petition of L. M. Tappan and others of New York against the imprisonment of Thaddeus Hyatt.

The Kansas bill was taken up.

Mr. Green said he would vote on the bill without any reference to slavery, he would vote for the admission of Kansas, but not with the Constitution as it now stood; he objected to it on the ground that the boundaries proposed conflicted with the treaties with the Indians; he reviewed the history of Kansas, and attributed the disorders to the efforts of Emigrant Aid societies to colonize and abrogate Kansas.

Mr. Callahan replied that there was no ground for the sweeping charges of Green against the people of Kansas, and his history of actions in Kansas was fallacious.

Mr. Green was understood to say that he would vote for the bill.

Mr. Sumner misinterpreted him, knowing that he would vote for the bill.

Mr. Callahan said that the bill was the result of a charge of falsehood. Such an accusation has never before been made, and he was mortified that at his age it should have been made.

Green was under the impression that the Senator designed to misrepresent him; in regard to the charge of falsehood, he endeavored to treat it with peculiarity.

Callahan said it was a serious matter to him.

Green was understood to explain by saying perhaps the Senator misunderstood him.

Wigfall spoke against the admission, and Wade in favor.

The bill was postponed, 33 to 27.

Pugh and Latham voted with the Republicans.

An appropriation for the regiment of Texas Volunteers was concurred in.

HOUSE.—Mr. Keynotes called up the Senate bill, making provisions for the return and support, for a limited period, of the reaped Africans.

The committee on Judiciary proposed to amend by increasing the sum from $100 to $150, for their comfortable clothing, shelter and provisions, for a period not exceeding a year from date of their landing in Africa; and also, increasing the aggregate amount from $200,000 to $250,000.

Mr. Taylor offered an amendment, that no contract entered into by the President shall be renewed by him, until a convention shall be convened into between the U. States and Great Britain, making joint provisions for the return of all reaped Africans.

Mr. Taylor advocated his amendment, saying that, while we return such negroes, Great Britain does not. He would leave the whole matter open for the consideration of Congress.

Reynolds replied that this bill proposed to carry out the existing law for the prevention of the slave trade, and the recommendation of the President in his special message.

Mr. Crawford wished to move to strike out so much of that bill as provides for the maintenance of negroes, one year, he desiring to subject the Senate of the House to that subject. He maintained there was a word of the 1850 which required, justified or permitted, as to support, for a year, those returning to Africa. These wild Africans should not be supported from the treasury—a boon not granted to any white man.

Mr. Reynolds showed the provision of the bill, carried out the interpretation, which has been followed from that time to this, and the gentleman from Georgia would find that Congress, in 1850, appropriated $75,000 for the Africans of the Echo, in accordance with the request of President Buchanan.

The bill was passed by 121 against 56.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRACY.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 4.

The cause of National Democracy determined to co-operate with the general Convention assembled here, as long as there is hope that the national organization will be preserved, in its session.

In the event that delegates are sent to Richmond or a platform is adopted by the general Convention different from that adopted at Charleston, the national union will quietly organize a separate Convention.

In the latter event, the Charleston platform will be adopted and delegates will be sent to Baltimore.

The general impression is, that the majority of the delegates to the regular Convention favor sending delegates to both Richmond and Baltimore. Those in favor of sending to Richmond alone, are regarded as a minority, and those in favor of Baltimore alone, are in a similar fix.

A harmonious result in any way is very uncertain, but perhaps there may be an adjustment by sending delegates to Baltimore with authority to consult with the Richmond Convention.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.
WASHINGTON, June 4.

It will be recalled that the Pacific Railroad was recommended by the House to the select committee on the subject, in order to remove the difficulty growing out of the powers proposed to be bestowed on the grantors and to render the franchise more secure.

This morning in the committee, Mr. Foster offered an amendment which was unanimously agreed to, providing that the grantor or their associates shall not be come vested with any great, right or interest secured by the bill.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 4.

There was a large attendance at the regular Democratic Convention, which met at the capitol to day. W. B. Aikin was chosen temporary chairman, and the delegates proceeded to the enrollment of their names.

The Douglas Convention meets at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

DESTRUCTIVE HAIL STORM.
INDIANAPOLIS, June 4.

A most violent storm of rain and hail ever known, passed over the vicinity of Anderson, Ind., to-day at 2 o'clock p. m. Hail stones fell as large as hen's eggs, breaking windows, stripping trees of their leaves, and beating down corn, peas and wheat.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.
PHILADELPHIA, June 4.

Judge Douglas telegraphed to the Press, that in consequence of the sickness of his child, he will be unable to meet his friends in Philadelphia and New York to day.

The Halls that "Honest Old Abe" Lincoln split thirty years ago in Illinois seem to bother our Democratic friends considerably. They are in a bad trouble, but grief and sorrow could not be surprised if many of them were caught with the rail fence before the election.—[Defiance Republican.]
